

Śavāsana

It is the plot we all will enter:

The unmarked grave, the silent centre;

It is the nought that won't distinguish,

Where all that flares will full extinguish;

It is the ground of low and level,

Where No-one can arise to revel:

By it we die before we die —

Still learning how to say Goodbye.